

Undergraduate Student Data

Diversity

Arts and Humanities includes 33% URM, 36% Pell, 36% First-Gen, compared to the 24% URM, 27% Pell, 29% First-Gen of total campus undergraduates.

26.7% of all Arts and Humanities declared majors identify as Latinx, compared to the 19.3% of total campus undergraduates. The Campus HSI goal is to accomplish 25% by 2025.

Arts and Humanities serves a disproportionate number of California residents: 86.2% of our declared majors are CA residents compared to 76.3% of all Berkeley undergraduates.

Over the last 10 years, on average 53% of Arts and Humanities majors have been transfer students, whereas they make up about 33% of the undergraduate student population.

Growth

Some majors, in particular, have seen exceptional increases in student interest. Our top three highest-growing majors are Art Practice, Film & Media, and Music, which are in the top-10 highest-growing majors on campus over the past 5 years.

- Art Practice majors have increased, as a proportion of all undergrad majors, on average 12% year over year the last five years.
- Film and Media majors have increased, as a proportion of all undergrad majors, on average 12% year over year the last five years.
- Music majors have increased, as a proportion of all undergrad majors, on average 36% year over year the last five years.

Though Arts and Humanities has the smallest average undergraduate class size on campus, we have continually enrolled around 18,000 students per semester over the past decade.

Undergraduate diversity numbers taken from the public Fall Enrollment at a Glance Dashboard in the UC Information Center. Data aggregated by CIP code. This data sheet was prepared by the division of Arts and Humanities under the guidance and approval of the Office of Planning and Analysis in May 2023.